*A Mother's Love
Is Not Enough*

A mother's love is not enough
To grow the family tall:
We need her strength when life is tough
- especially when we're small.

You rocked our cradle, dried our tears
And washed and ironed and sewed;
With love and patience through the years
You gladly bore that load.

And all the meals you'd prepare -
Breakfast, lunch or dinner:
No one came from eating there
Afraid they might get thinner.

Then you knitted, row on row,
It went without a hitch:
the jumper fitted - as you know -
with love in every stitch.

Of course we're sad that you have gone,
to cope we'll have to still.
We're not sure how we'll carry on,
but 'cos of you, we will.

So thank you, Mum, from us, your brood,
You made us what we are.
Go, with undying gratitude
For all your love and care.
